

Today you will find that Bangsar has transformed into an integrated township where you will find many fine dining places serving Italian, French, Japanese or Northern Indian food. It has really become a melting pot for many who have come to call Malaysia their home even though they come from as far as England, America, France, Italy or Germany.

Local Market

Once frequented by a group of youths in the 80's with their car-racing through the wee hours of Saturday night, it is now a busy street filled with design and furniture hunters. This is all because of the vast variety of furniture and furnishing outlets that have emerged during the late 90's. In this issue, we take you along to some of these places to explore their latest collections and offers.

First stop, Felone Fine Furnishing. Known for their fine craftsmanship, Calacole by Felone, is a glamorous handcrafted range that will bring out that rich and luxury feel to your living room. Complementary items include the Bejeweled cabinet and the French Kiss bed frames.
